Community Care Services

In this ever changing world of community services we are often confronted with terms and words which appear foreign to us. Community Services are diverse in nature incorporating services such as:

- educational services
- home and domestic care
- residential care
- vocational support
- welfare support
- health care, including allied and complimentary health care
- secure care
- aged care
- disability support.

This book is comprised of 220 pages, of terms and definitions commonly used in community services, that supports the student or worker in navigating the sometimes difficult sometimes challenging terms they can come up against.
